Objet : RE: Request for Comment Regarding Proxy Advisory Firms.

Dear John,

I am a 23-year veteran investment banker in the mining industry. I have been aware of several issues that have arisen due to proxy advisory firms. While I am certain their intentions are well-meaning, their execution is often 'one-size fits all' and as such can do a disservice to companies, in particular more junior companies. I support your measures and the issues identified. Their involvement in the markets can be impactful and as such needs to be well-scrutinized.

Regards,

Bruno Kaiser
