(1) debt securities issued or guaranteed by the Government of Québec, the Government of Canada, or of a Province of Canada;

(2) commercial paper or deposit certificates issued or guaranteed by a bank whose securities are listed on a stock exchange recognized for that purpose.

O.C. 660-83, s. 283.

284. The net assets, calculated at market value, of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund must at any time be composed to at least 90 % of readily marketable securities or of cash.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

“Readily negotiable securities” means: a freely transferable security listed on a stock exchange or that is regularly bought or sold in an organized market and of which quotations are regularly published.

O.C. 660-83, s. 284; Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

285. For the application of section 284, readily marketable securities may be replaced by assets whose resale is not subject to any restrictions and that may easily be resold at a price equal to the estimated value determined in the calculation of the net asset value.

An asset does not meet that criterion solely from the fact that a person associated with the fund or the company has agreed to repurchase it.

O.C. 660-83, s. 285; Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

286. In the case of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund that invests more than 50 % of its assets in mortgages, the Commission determines the liquidity requirements to be applied instead of those prescribed by sections 284 and 285.

O.C. 660-83, s. 286.

287. In the evaluation of the portfolio of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund, the rate of reduction obtained at the time of the purchase must be applied to the evaluation of the securities whose resale is subject to restrictions until the restrictions are lifted. However, the gradual taking into account of the actual value is permitted where the date on which the restrictions will be lifted is known.

O.C. 660-83, s. 287.

288. By derogation from section 240, the adviser of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund may not calculate his remuneration in terms of the return on the portfolio of the fund or the company unless the Commission so authorizes, on the conditions set by it.

O.C. 660-83, s. 288.

289. The price at which the securities of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund are offered for subscription or redeemed must be established at the date of the first appraisal following receipt of the subscription or the request for redemption.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

However, the fund or company may, if it so states in the prospectus, not apply the price resulting from the first evaluation, to requests for redemption received after a certain hour or certain day preceding this evaluation.

O.C. 660-83, s. 289; Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

290. An incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund may refuse the subscription for units or shares in so far as such right is mentioned in the prospectus.

In such case, the fund or the company must convey its decision to the subscriber within 2 days following receipt of the subscription and must immediately return the sum subscribed.

O.C. 660-83, s. 290.

TITLE VIII RULES FOR THE OVER-THE-COUNTER MARKET

291. The rules for an over-the-counter market, established by a securities clearing-house recognized as a self-regulatory organization and named by the Commission as such, have, after approval by the Commission and in accordance of paragraph 8 of section 331 of the Act, the force of regulations made under the Act.

O.C. 660-83, s. 291.

292. A registered dealer must send daily to the recognized securities clearing-house, details of the over-the-counter transactions in shares, rights or warrants.

O.C. 660-83, s. 292.

293. The recognized clearing-house must keep a register of all over-the-counter transactions and distribute to dealers a weekly report which gives the volume and range for each security. In the case of securities which have not traded during the week, the report must give the price, number of securities and the date of the last trade.

O.C. 660-83, s. 293.

294. The recognized securities clearing-house must send to the media designated by the Commission, a daily statement of over-the-counter transactions.

This statement must contain the issuer's name, the market volume and the market range.

A copy of this statement must be sent to the Commission.

O.C. 660-83, s. 294.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

295. The recognized securities clearing-house may charge fees to participating dealers at rates approved by the Commission.

O.C. 660-83, s. 295.

TITLE IX ADDITIONAL EXEMPTION AND COMING INTO FORCE

296. In the case of a security that would be a gilt-edged security if it was listed on a recognized exchange within the meaning of the last paragraph of article 981^o of the Civil Code, no prospectus is required for the alienation of securities of a reporting issuer purchased under an exemption provided in sections 43, 47 or 51 of the Act where the initial purchaser and subsequent purchasers entitled to one of such exemptions have held the securities for a 6 month period immediately preceding the alienation and if the reporting issuer has complied with the applicable disclosure requirements during that period.

This exemption applies only under the following conditions:

(1) any of the securities of the reporting issuer are listed on an exchange recognized by the Commission for the purposes of this section;

(2) no effort is made to prepare the market or to create a demand for the securities being distributed.

O.C. 660-83, s. 296.

297. This Regulation comes into force on the day of their publication in the Gazette officielle du Québec.

O.C. 660-83, s. 297, Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

SCHEDULE I PROSPECTUS

Item 1: Distribution spread

The information concerning the distribution spread must be given in tabular form on the first page of the prospectus.

DISTRIBUTION SPREAD

	Price to public	Dealer's remuneration	Net proceeds from distribution
Per unit
Total

Instruction

1. Any consideration other than a discount or a commission in cash must be set forth in a note following the table.
2. The table should set out separately those securities which are underwritten, those under option and those to be sold on a "best efforts" basis.
3. If it is impracticable to state the offering price, the method by which it is to be determined must be explained. If the securities are to be offered at the market, indicate the market involved and the market price as of the latest practicable date.
4. If any of the securities are offered for the account of a security holder, refer on the first page to the information called for by paragraph 4 of item 26. State the portion of the expenses of distribution to be borne by the security holder.

For a natural resource company, state that the securities holder will not offer its securities until distribution of the issuer's securities is completed.

5. If debt securities are to be offered at a premium or a discount, state in bold face type the effective yield if held to maturity.

Item 2: Plan of distribution

1. If all or part of the securities being offered are to be sold through underwriters, give the name of the underwriter and state his obligation to take up and pay for the securities. Indicate the date by which the underwriter is to purchase the securities.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

2. Outline briefly any other plan of distribution. Where there is a "best efforts" offering, indicate, where practicable, on the first page the minimum amount, if any, required to be raised, and also indicate, where practicable, the maximum amount that could be raised and the latest date that the offering is to remain open.

For a natural resource company, describe the options given by the issuer or any of its subsidiaries, or the options proposed to be given.

Instructions

1. All that is required as to the nature of the underwriters' obligation is whether the underwriters are or will be committed to take up and pay for all of the securities if any are taken up, or whether the underwriting is merely a "best efforts" arrangement under which the underwriters are required to take up and pay for only such securities as, they may sell.

2. Where an underwriting is subject to a market out clause, a statement to that effect should be made, as set out in the following example:

"Under an agreement dated _____ 19____ between the company and _____ as _____ the company has agreed to issue and _____ has agreed to purchase on _____ 19____ the following securities _____ at a price of $ _____ payable in cash to the company against delivery. The obligations of _____ under the agreement may be terminated at its discretion on the basis of its assessment of the state of the financial markets and may also be terminated upon the occurrence of certain stated events. _____ is, however, obligated to take up and pay for all of the _____ if any of the _____ are purchased under the agreement."

3. For a natural resource company, describe the options, stating the material provisions including

(1) the designation and number of the securities called for by such options;

(2) the purchase prices of the securities called for and the expiration dates of such options; and

(3) the market value of the securities called for by such options as of the latest practicable date.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

Item 3:

Market for securities

Where no market exists, or will exist after the distribution, state in bold face type on the first page:

“There is no market through which these securities may be sold.”

Disclose how the price paid to the company was established, whether by negotiation with the underwriter, arbitrarily by the company, or otherwise.

Item 4:

Summary of prospectus

Give a synopsis near the beginning of the prospectus of the information contained in the body of the prospectus which would be most likely to influence the investor's decision to purchase the security.

Instructions

1. This summary should highlight in condensed form the information, both favourable and adverse, including risk factors in Item 10, about both the issuer and the securities.
2. Appropriate cross references may be made to items in the prospectus where information is difficult to summarize accurately, but this shall not detract from the necessity to have the salient points summarized in the summary.

Item 5:

Use of net proceeds from distribution

1. Indicate the net proceeds that the issuer expects to obtain from the distribution, the principal uses planned for the money, and the funds assigned for each use.
2. Provide the details of any agreement prescribing that any part of the net proceeds will be kept in trust or will only become available when certain conditions are fulfilled.

Instructions

1. The information concerning use of the net proceeds must be sufficiently precise. In most cases, it is not sufficient to say that “the proceeds of the distribution will be used for general corporate purposes.”

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

For a natural resource company, specify whether unallocated funds will be placed in a trust or escrow account, invested or added to the working capital of the issuer. Give details of the arrangements made for, and the persons responsible for the supervision of the trust or escrow account or the investments of unallocated funds and the investment policy to be followed. Where unallocated funds are to be added to working capital, indicate the reason for doing so.

2. Indicate, in order of priority, the uses that will be made of the proceeds of the distribution in the case where they are less than expected. However, this information is not necessary in the case of a firm underwriting.

3. If material funds must be added to the proceeds of the distribution, indicate those sums and their source. If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is allocated to retirement of a loan, indicate the use of those funds in the case of loans incurred within the last 2 years.

4. If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is used for the acquisition of property, outside the normal course of business of the issuer, briefly describe those properties and provide the details of the price paid or attributed for the different classes of property. Indicate from whom the properties were acquired and how the cost of acquisition was determined. Describe briefly the title to the property or the rights that the issuer has acquired. Where the consideration for those properties includes securities of the issuer, provide all the details, including those concerning the attribution or issuance of securities of the same class during the 2 preceding years.

Item 6:

Sales otherwise than for cash

If any of the securities being offered are to be offered otherwise than for cash, give full particulars on the terms of payment.

Set out in a note to the table a cross reference to any note in the financial statements containing information concerning the extent of obligations arising by virtue of other leases on real property.

If any shares being offered are to be offered in exchange for other securities, an appropriate description of the other securities shall be given. No information need be given, however, as to any class of securities that is to be redeemed or otherwise retired, provided appropriate steps to assure redemption or retirement have been or will be taken prior to or contemporaneously with the delivery of the shares being offered.

3. The text of the clauses applying to the shares may be given in a schedule to the prospectus.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

2. The remuneration in question includes the amounts and benefits granted to its senior executives, during the last financial year, by the reporting issuer itself or by its subsidiaries, whether or not the amounts and benefits have been paid or are simply accrued to senior executives.

It is presented in accordance with the following table, with the exception of options, rights or warrants that are the subject of a note to the table.

TABLE OF REMUNERATION OF SENIOR EXECUTIVES

	Beneficiaries	Fixed remuneration		Conditional remuneration
		Sums of money	Benefits
Aggregate remuneration of senior executives with the exception of the remuneration of directors	Number of senior executives with the exception of those who only perform the duties of directors
Aggregate remuneration of senior executives with the exception of the remuneration of directors with respect to their duties as directors	Number of executives who act as directors
	Give the total number of senior executives

Instructions

1. The remuneration for a part of the financial year during which an interested party has not performed the duties of a senior executive may be omitted, provided that the fact has been indicated in a note.

2. The aggregate remuneration is divided into 2 elements: fixed remuneration and conditional remuneration.

3. Fixed remuneration includes any remuneration the amount, payment and definite acquisition of which are not subject to any future and uncertain event.

It comprises 3 elements:

(1) the remuneration for the last financial year;

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

(2) the remuneration paid during the last financial year, for a prior financial year, less, up to and including a nil balance, any amount that has already been included in the table of a prior financial year or that would have been included if the interested party had been a senior executive during a prior financial year;

(3) the remuneration granted by a third party during the last financial year following a transaction concluded between the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries and the third party, and whose primary purpose is to obtain the remuneration.

4. The fixed remuneration is allocated to 2 classes: sums of money and benefits.

5. Remuneration in the form of sums of money must include salary, director's fees, commissions and bonuses.

6. The benefits obtained in the form of securities or other property must be stated at the fair market value, following deduction, where applicable, of the price of acquisition.

The market value is appraised, as the case may be, on the date of the beneficiary's choice entitling him to the benefit, on the date of the final acquisition of the benefit or on that of those 2 dates that is closest to the end of the financial year.

7. Benefits from the insurance of persons must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to all employees.

The value indicated is the cost of the premiums or, in the case of accident insurance or hospital insurance, of the contributions paid by the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries.

8. Personal benefits are benefits that have no direct relationship with the performance of the duties as a senior executive, that are provided by the reporting issuer or by one of its subsidiaries, including through the intermediary of a third person, and that benefit, directly or indirectly, a senior executive.

They are taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to a significant number of the employees.

9. The value indicated for personal benefits is the real marginal cost borne by the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries. However, if the cost is significantly lower than the price that the beneficiary would have paid otherwise, either the price must be recorded in a note or entered in the table instead of the real marginal cost.

10. Where studies would be necessary that are out of proportion with the value in question either to determine to what extent benefits are personal rather than related to the performance of the duties of a senior executive, or to establish the precise value of personal benefits, they may be omitted.

However, it must be determined beforehand, by a careful examination, that their aggregate value does not exceed 10 000 $ for each senior executive and that their omission does not cause a misrepresentation in the table of remuneration.

11. The conditional remuneration must include any remuneration whose amount, payment or definite acquisition is subject to a future and uncertain event.

12. The value of the conditional remuneration is equal to the amounts attributable to earnings of the last financial year by the reporting issuer or its subsidiaries under one of the following headings:

(1) pension plan, retirement plans, annuity contracts, deferred compensation plans or other similar plans;

(2) profit-sharing scheme or compensation plans in accordance with which the amount of the benefit is determined in relation to objective factors, in particular the market price of securities of the reporting issuer or of another person;

(3) share purchase or subscription plans, participation plans for benefits, savings plans or other similar plans.

13. The value indicated must include all forms of conditional remuneration granted to senior executive, whether or not they have been authorized by a resolution of the board of directors of the reporting issuer or of one of its subsidiaries.

14. Where the exact value of a form of conditional remuneration may not be determined, a brief description thereof must be given in a note.

The description must include an appraisal of the amounts that the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries intend to pay during subsequent financial years or, failing such, the total amount of the funds accumulated for future installments, accompanied by the method for calculating the latter.

15. The options rights or warrants granted to senior executives and relating to the securities of the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries form part of the remuneration.

They must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered on a prorata basis to all security holders.

19. State in a note to the table the aggregate amount which must be paid to the senior executives, as a group, following the cessation of employment or their retirement, unless such amounts are already shown in the table.

In the calculation of the aggregate amount, one must take into account only the cases of senior executives that are to receive an amount in excess of 60 000 $.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

its subsidiaries, whether or not the amounts and benefits have been paid or are simply accrued to the senior executives.

It is presented in accordance with the following table, with the exception of options, rights or warrants that are the subject of a note to the table.

TABLE OF REMUNERATION OF SENIOR EXECUTIVES

	Beneficiaries	Fixed remuneration		Conditional remuneration
		Sums of money	Benefits
Aggregate remuneration of senior executives with the exception of the remuneration of directors	Number of senior executives with the exception of those who only perform the duties of directors
Aggregate remuneration of directors with respect to their duties as directors	Number of senior executives who act as directors
	Give the total number of senior executives

Instructions

1. The remuneration for a part of the financial year during which an interested party has not performed the duties of a senior executive may be omitted, provided that the fact has been indicated in a note.

2. The aggregate remuneration is divided into 2 elements: fixed remuneration and conditional remuneration.

3. Fixed remuneration includes any remuneration the amount, payment and definite acquisition of which are not subject to any future and uncertain event.

It comprises 3 elements:

(1) the remuneration for the last financial year;

(2) the remuneration paid during the last financial year, for a prior financial year, less, up to and including a nil balance, from any amount that has already been included in the table of a prior financial year or that would have been included if the interested party had been a senior executive during a prior financial year;

(3) the remuneration granted by a third party during the last financial year following a transaction concluded between the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries and the third party, and whose primary purpose is to obtain the remuneration.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

4. The fixed remuneration is allocated to 2 classes: sums of money and benefits.

5. Remuneration in the form of sums of money must include salary, director's fees, commissions and bonuses.

6. The benefits obtained in the form of securities or other property must be stated at the fair market value, following deduction, where applicable, of the price of acquisition.

The market value is appraised, as the case maybe, on the date of the beneficiary's choice entitling him to the benefit, on the date of the final acquisition of the benefit or on that of those 2 dates that is closest to the end of the financial year.

7. Benefits from the insurance of persons must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to all employees.

The value indicated is the cost of the premiums or, in the case of accident insurance or hospital insurance, of the contributions paid by the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries.

8. Personal benefits are benefits that have no direct relationship with the performance of the duties as a senior executive that are provided by the reporting issuer or by one of its subsidiaries, including through the intermediary of a third person, and that benefit, directly or indirectly, a senior executive.

They are taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to a significant number of the employees.

9. The value indicated for personal benefits is the real marginal cost borne by the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries. However, if the cost is significantly lower than the price that the beneficiary would have paid otherwise, either the price must be recorded in a note or entered in the table instead of the real marginal cost.

10. Where studies would be necessary that are out of proportion with the value in question either to determine to what extent benefits are personal rather than related to the performance of the duties of a senior executive, or to establish the precise value of personal benefits, they may be omitted.

However, it must be determined beforehand, by a careful examination, that their aggregate value does not exceed 10 000 $ for each senior executive and that their omission does not cause a misrepresentation in the table of remuneration.

11. The conditional remuneration must include any remuneration whose amount, payment or definite acquisition is subject to a future and uncertain event.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

12. The value of the conditional remuneration is equal to the amounts attributable to the earnings of the last financial year by the reporting issuer or its subsidiaries under one of the following headings:

(1) pension plans, retirement plans, annuity contracts, deferred compensation plans or other similar plans;

(2) profit-sharing scheme or compensation plans in accordance with which the amount of the benefit is determined in relation to objective factors, in particular the market price of securities of the reporting issuer or of another person;

(3) share purchase or subscription plans, participation plans for benefits, savings plans or other similar plans.

13. The value indicated must include all forms of conditional remuneration granted to senior executives, whether or not they have been authorized by a resolution of the board of directors of the reporting issuer or of one of its subsidiaries.

14. Where the exact value of a form of conditional remuneration may not be determined, a brief description thereof must be given in a note.

The description must include and appraisal of the amounts that the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries intend to pay during subsequent financial years or, failing such, the total amount of the funds accumulated for future installments, accompanied by the method for calculating the latter.

15. The options, rights or warrants granted to senior executives and relating to the securities of the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries form part of the remuneration.

They must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered on a pro rata basis to all security holders.

16. The option, right or warrant that is the subject of a significant extension of time or material change must be considered as a new option, right or warrant.

17. With respect to options, rights or warrants granted during the last financial year, the following information must be given:

(1) the description of the security and the number of shares referred to;

(2) the date of the issue, expiry date, price for the purchase or subscription of shares and the other important conditions;

(3) the consideration received;

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

(2) the difference between the market price of the security and the price for the purchase or subscription therefor.

If the market price cannot be established, the impossibility of doing so must be indicated in a note. .

19. State in a note to the table the aggregate amount which must be paid to the senior executives, as a group, following the cessation of employment or their retirement, unless such amounts are already shown in the table.

In the calculation of the aggregate amount, one must take into account only the cases of senior executives that are to receive an amount in excess of 60 000 $.

It is presented in accordance with the following table, with the exception of options, rights or warrants that are the subject of a note to the table.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

TABLE OF REMUNERATION OF SENIOR EXECUTIVES

	Beneficiaries	Fixed Remuneration		Conditional Remuneration
		Sums of money	Benefits
Aggregate remuneration of senior executives with the exception of the remuneration of directors	Number of senior executives with the exception of those who only perform the duties of directors
Aggregate remuneration of directors with respect to their duties as directors	Number of senior executives who act as directors
	Give the total number of senior executives

Instructions

1. The remuneration for a part of the financial year during which an interested party has not performed the duties of a senior executive may be omitted, provided that the fact has been indicated in a note.

2. The aggregate remuneration is divided into 2 elements: fixed remuneration and conditional remuneration.

3. Fixed remuneration includes any remuneration the amount, payment and definite acquisition of which are not subject to any future and uncertain event.

It comprises 3 elements:

(1) the remuneration for the last financial year;

(2) the remuneration paid during the last financial year, for a prior financial year less, up to and including a nil balance, any amount that has already been included in the table of a prior financial year or that would have been included if the interested party had been a senior executive during a prior financial year;

(3) the remuneration granted by a third party during the last financial year following a transaction concluded between the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries and the third party, and whose primary purpose is to obtain the remuneration.

4. The fixed remuneration is allocated to 2 classes: sums of money and benefits.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

5. Remuneration in the form of sums of money must include salary, director's fees, commissions and bonuses.

6. The benefits obtained in the form of securities or other property must be stated at their fair market value, following deduction, where applicable, of the price of acquisition.

The market value is appraised, as the case may be, on the date of the beneficiary's choice entitling him to the benefit, on the date of the final acquisition of the benefit or on that of those 2 dates that is closest to the end of the financial year.

7. Benefits from the insurance of persons must taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to all employee.

The value indicated is the cost of the premiums or, in the case of accident insurance or hospital insurance, of the contributions paid by the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries.

8. Personal benefits are benefits that have no direct relationship with the performance of the duties as senior executive, that are provided by the reporting issuer or by one of its subsidiaries, including through the intermediary of third person, and that benefit, directly or indirectly, a senior executive.

They are taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to a significant number of the employees.

9. The value indicated for personal benefits is the real marginal cost borne by the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries. However, if the cost is significantly lower than the price that the beneficiary would have paid otherwise, either the price must be recorded in a note or entered in the table instead of the real marginal cost.

10. Where studies would be necessary that are out of proportion with the value in question either to determine to what extent benefits are personal rather than related to the performance of the duties of a senior executive, or to establish the precise value of personal benefits, they may be omitted.

However, it must be determined beforehand, by a careful examination, that their aggregate value does not exceed 10 000 $ for each senior executive and that their omission does not cause a misrepresentation in the table of remuneration.

11. The conditional remuneration must include any remuneration whose amount, payment or definite acquisition is subject to a future and uncertain event.

12. The value of the conditional remuneration is equal to the amounts attributable to the earnings of the last financial year by the reporting issuer or its subsidiaries under one of the following headings:

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

(1) pension plans, retirement plans, annuity contracts, deferred compensation plans or other similar plans;

(3) share purchase or subscription plans, participation plans for benefits, savings plans or other similar plans.

13. The value indicated must include all forms of conditional remuneration granted to senior executives, whether or not they have been authorized by a resolution of the board of directors of the reporting issuer or of one of its subsidiaries.

14. Where the exact value of a form of conditional remuneration may not be determined, a brief description thereof must be given in a note.

The description must include an appraisal of the amounts that the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries intend to pay during subsequent financial year or, failing such, the total amount of the funds accumulated for future installments, accompanied by the method for calculating the latter.

15. The options, rights or warrants granted to senior executives and relating to the securities of the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries form part of the remuneration.

They must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered on a pro rata basis to all security holders.

16. The option, right or warrant that is the subject of a significant extension of time or material change must be considered a new option, right or warrant.

17. With respect to options, rights or warrants granted during the past financial year, the following information must be given:

(1) the description of the security and the number of shares referred to;

(2) the date of the issue, expiry date, price for the purchase or subscription of shares and the other important conditions;

19. State in a note to the table the aggregate amount which must be paid to the senior executives, as a group, following the cessation of employment or their retirement, unless such amounts are already shown in the table.

In the calculation of the aggregate amount, one must take into account only the cases of senior executives that are to receive an amount in excess of 60 000 $.

Item 11: Indebtedness of senior executives

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

(3) a loan made to a senior executive who is not employed on a full-time basis by the issuer or to a person associated with him, provided that the making of the loan is part of the ordinary business of the issuer, that the loan is granted on the same terms as to customers, that it does not involve an unusual risk of collectibility and does not exceed the greater of 200 000 $ or 5 % of the shareholders equity for the aggregate of the loans made;

(4) indebtedness arising by reason of purchases made on usual trade terms or travel or expenses advances, if the repayment arrangements are in accord with usual commercial practice.

2. Indicate, in order of priority, the uses that will be made of the proceeds of the distribution in the case where they are less than expected. However, this information is not necessary in the case of a firm underwriting.

If the rights attaching to the shares offered are materially limited by those attached to another security or if a security (other than obligations covered in Item 16) ranks ahead of or equally with the shares being offered, include information regarding such other securities that will enable investors to understand the rights attaching to the shares being offered. If any shares being offered are to be offered in exchange for other securities, an appropriate description of the other securities shall be given. No information need be given, however, as to any class of securities that is to be redeemed or otherwise retired, provided appropriate steps to assure redemption or retirement have been or will be taken prior to or contemporaneously with the delivery of the shares being offered.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

It is presented in accordance with the following table, with the exception of options, rights or warrants that are the subject of a note to the table.

TABLE OF REMUNERATION OF SENIOR EXECUTIVES

	Beneficiaries	Fixed remuneration		Conditional remuneration
		Sums of money	Benefits
Aggregate remuneration of senior executives with the exception of the remuneration of directors	Number of senior executives with the exception of those who only perform the duties of directors
Aggregate remuneration of directors with respect to their duties as directors	Number of senior executives who act as directors
	Give the total number of senior executives

3. This information must be presented only when the agenda for the meeting includes the election of directors or a change in senior executives' remuneration.

Instructions

1. The remuneration for a part of the financial year during which an interested party has not performed the duties of a senior executive may be omitted, provided that the fact has been indicated in a note.

2. The aggregate remuneration is divided into 2 elements: fixed remuneration and conditional remuneration.

3. Fixed remuneration includes any remuneration the amount, payment and definite acquisition of which are not subject to any future and uncertain event.

It comprises 3 elements:

(1) the remuneration for the last financial year;

(2) the remuneration paid during the last financial year, for a prior financial year, less, up to and including a nil balance, any amount that has already been included in the table of a prior financial year or that would have been included if the interested party had been a director or officer during a prior financial year;

(3) the remuneration granted by a third party during the last financial year following a transaction concluded between the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries and the third party, and whose primary purpose is to obtain the remuneration.

4. The fixed remuneration is allocated to 2 classes: sums of money and benefits.

5. Remuneration in the form of money must include salary, director's fees, commissions and bonuses.

6. The benefits obtained in the form of securities or other property must be stated at the fair market value following deduction, where applicable, of the price of acquisition.

The market value is appraised, as the case may be, on the date of the beneficiary's choice entitling him to the benefit, on the date of the final acquisition of the benefit or on that of those 2 dates that is closest to the end of the financial year.

7. Benefits from the insurance of persons must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to all employees.

The value indicated is the cost of the premiums or, in the case of accident insurance or hospital insurance, of the contributions paid by the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries.

8. Personal benefits are benefits that have no direct relationship with the performance of the duties of a senior executive, that are provided by the reporting issuer or by one of its subsidiaries, including through the intermediary of a third person, and that benefit, directly or indirectly, a senior executive.

They are taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered, on the same terms, to a significant number of the employees.

9. The value indicated for personal benefits is the real marginal cost borne by the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries. However, if the cost is significantly lower than the price that the beneficiary would have paid otherwise, either the price must be recorded in a note or entered in the table instead of the real marginal cost.

10. Where studies would be necessary that are out of proportion with the value in question either to determine to what extent benefits are personal rather than related to the performance of the duties of a senior executive, or to establish the precise value of personal benefits, they may be omitted.

However, it must be determined beforehand, by a careful examination, that their aggregate value does not exceed 10 000 $ for each senior executive and that their omission does not cause a misrepresentation in the table of remuneration.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM AUGUST 29, 1984 TO JULY 31, 1985

11. The conditional remuneration must include any remuneration whose amount, payment or definite acquisition is subject to a future and uncertain event.

12. The value of the conditional remuneration is equal to the amounts attributable to the earnings of the last financial year by the reporting issuer or its subsidiaries under one of the following headings:

(1) pension plans, retirement plans, annuity contracts, deferred compensation plans or other similar plans;

(2) profit-sharing scheme or compensation plans in accordance with which the amount of the benefit is determined in relation to objective factors, in particular the market price of securities of the reporting issuer or of another person;

(3) share purchase or subscription plans, participation plans for benefits, savings plans or other similar plans.

13. The value indicated must include all forms of conditional remuneration granted to senior executives, whether or not they have been authorized by a resolution of the board of directors of the reporting issuer or of one of its subsidiaries.

14. Where the exact value of a form of conditional remuneration may not be determined, a brief description thereof must be given in a note.

The description must include an appraisal of the amounts that the reporting issuer and its subsidiaries intend to pay during subsequent financial years or, failing such, the total amount of the funds accumulated for future installments, accompanied by the method for calculating the latter.

15. The option rights or warrants granted to senior executives and relating to the securities of the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries form part of the remuneration.

They must be taken into account only to the extent that they are not offered on a pro-rata basis to all security holders..

16. The option, right or warrant that is the subject of a significant extension of time or material change must be considered as a new option, right or warrant.

17. With respect to options and rights or warrants granted during the last financial year, the following information must be given:

(1) the description of the security and the number of shares referred to;

19. State in a note to the table the aggregate amount which must be paid to the senior executives, as a group, following the cessation of employment or their retirement, unless such amounts are already shown in the table.

3. Fixed remuneration includes any remuneration the amount, payment and definite acquisition of which are not subject to any future and uncertain event.

It comprises 3 elements:

(1) the remuneration for the last financial year;

(2) the remuneration paid during the last financial year, for a prior financial year, less, up to and including a nil balance, from any amount that has already been included in the table of a prior financial year or that would have been included if the interested party had been a senior executive during a prior financial year;

(3) the remuneration granted by a third party during the last financial year following a transaction concluded between the reporting issuer or one of its subsidiaries and the third party, and whose primary purpose is to obtain the remuneration.
