“Securities legislation in certain of the provinces and territories of Canada provides security holders of the offeree issuer, in addition to any other rights they may have, with rights of rescission or damages if there is a misrepresentation in a circular or notice that is required to be delivered to such security holders. However such rights must be exercised within the prescribed time limit. Security holders should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of his province or territory for the particulars of those rights or consult with a legal advisor.”.

When a bid is made only in Québec, the previous warning is replaced by the following:

However such rights must be exercised within the prescribed time limit. Security holders should refer to the applicable provisions of the Act for the particulars of those rights or consult with a legal advisor.”.

182. The take-over or issuer bid circular, the circular of the board of directors, the notice of a senior executive or any notice of variation or change must contain the following certificate:

“The present take-over bid circular (or issuer bid circular, circular of the board of directors, notice of a senior executive or any notice of variation or change, as the case may be) does not contain any misrepresentation likely to affect the value or the market price of the securities subject to the bid.”.

Where the bid is made by a legal person or on its behalf, the certificate is signed by the chief executive officer of the offeror, by the chief financial officer and by 2 other persons selected from among the directors and authorized to sign.

Where the legal person has fewer than 4 senior executives, they must all sign.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

183. A valuation of the offeree issuer, based on going concern or liquidation assumptions, must be made in the case of an issuer bid, insider bid or where the offeror plans to transform the offeree issuer into an entity that would be comparable to a closed company or plans to liquidate the offeree issuer, unless the offeror lacks access to the required information.

The valuation shall be as of a date of not more than 120 days prior to the date of the offer and shall contain appropriate adjustments for material intervening events. However, a valuation at a date more than 120 days prior to the date of the offer may be acceptable if accompanied by a letter of the valuer addressed to the directors of the issuer confirming that he has no reasonable ground to believe that any intervening event has materially affected the value or range of values determined in such valuation or, if there has been such an event, describing it and stating the resultant change on the valuation.

In particular, a valuation is required when the offeror intends to acquire after the bid all the voting securities of the offeree issuer. However, a valuation is not required when the securities are listed on an exchange recognized by the Commission, have been traded on at least 50 % of the trading days during each of the last 2 months and that, for each of these days, the majority of the securities traded have been traded by persons other than insiders of the offeror, of the offeree or of affiliates and other than persons with whom these insiders are associates.

When an exchange take-over bid is taking place, the Commission may require a valuation of the offeror or of the company whose securities are given in exchange.

The valuation report is drawn up by an independent appraiser.

The circular must contain a summary of the valuation. In addition, it must also give an outline of any valuation, independent or not, prepared within 2 years preceding the bid in respect of the offeree issuer, its material assets or its securities.

Copies of those documents must be filed with the Commission.

O.C. 660-83, s. 184.

185. The Commission may accept a report drawn up more than 120 days from the date of the bid provided that a letter from the appraiser is sent to the holders certifying that to his knowledge no material fact has occurred since the date of the report, or describing any material fact which occurred after that date and its effect on the valuation.

O.C. 660-83, s. 185.

186. The Commission may permit information to be omitted from the valuation report where the dissemination of such information could cause serious prejudice to the issuer, the company concerned or the security holders.

O.C. 660-83, s. 186.

186.1. Whenever a take-over or issuer bid circular, a circular of the board of directors, a notice of a senior executive or any notice of variation or change mentions the name of a person, by reason of the standing connected with his profession, in particular a lawyer, a notary, an accountant, an engineer, a geologist or an appraiser who has drafted or certified part of any of these documents or has made an appraisal or valuation or drawn up a report used in preparing of any of these documents, the written consent of that person and the appraisal or valuation or report must be filed with the Commission together with these documents.

O.C. 697-87, s. 19.

187. In the case of a take-over or issuer bid by way of an exchange of securities, the circular must present in addition to the information prescribed by Schedule XI or XIV, the information and the financial statements required by the Regulation for a prospectus of the issuer whose securities are offered in exchange.

For the prospectus information, the issuer which meets the conditions prescribed by section 160, 161 or 162 may avail itself of the simplified prospectus system.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

However, even for the issuer that avails itself of the simplified prospectus system, the circular must present a pro forma balance sheet and income statement of the offeror to give effect to the exchange of securities. These financial statements are as of the date of the most recent financial statements of the offeror and of the offeree. They must also show the basic and fully diluted earnings per share.

O.C. 660-83, s. 187; O.C. 1263-85, s. 47; O.C. 697-87, s. 20.

188. The report prescribed by section 120 of the Act must present the following information:

189. The average market price, used to establish the margin of variation, is obtained by averaging the closing prices for the 20 days of market activity preceding the date of the transaction, or, if the market only gives the highest and the lowest prices, the average of the daily averages between the highest and lowest prices over the same period.

Where there is an organized market and the securities have been traded fewer than 10 days of the 20 days of market activity preceding the date of the transaction, the average market price is obtained by averaging the following prices determined for each of those 20 days:

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

1° the closing price or, if the closing price is not published, the average between the highest and the lowest prices, for each day that there has been trading;

2° the average of the bid and ask prices for each day on which there was no trading.

Where there is no organized market, the price arrived at and the method to obtain it require the approval of the Commission.

The price paid for the securities includes brokerage fees and commissions.

Where the exercise of an option to purchase securities would trigger the take-over bid provisions, the margin of variation is comprised of the excess of the cost of the option and the exercise price of the option over the average market price.

O.C. 660-83, s. 189; O.C. 697-87, s. 20.

189.1. When a security is traded on more than one market and one such market is within Canada, the prices, for the purposes of section 189, are determined by reference to that market.

However, when a security is traded on more than one market within Canada or only outside Canada, the prices are determined by reference to the market on which the greatest volume of trading of that security occurred during the preceding 20 days of market activity.

O.C. 697-87, s. 20.

189.2. The notice to security holders prescribed by section 130 of the Act must present the following information:

(1) a detailed description of the change in the initial terms or of the change in the facts on which the take-over or issuer bid circular is based;

TITLE VII
SPECIAL RULES RESPECTING UNINCORPORATED MUTUAL FUNDS, INCORPORATED MUTUAL FUNDS AND SECURITIES SAVINGS PLANS

CHAPTER I RIGHT OF CANCELLATION

272. Any person who subscribes to a securities savings plan may unilaterally cancel his subscription: it is sufficient to send the dealer a notice to that effect in the 60 days following receipt of the transaction notice prescribed by section 246 relating to the first payment.

However, an unincorporated mutual fund or an incorporated mutual fund is not required to grant the right of cancellation prescribed by this section in the case of securities saving plans where the proportion of sales charges included in any payment does not exceed the charges to be paid for subscriptions made outside the saving plans.

O.C. 660-83, s. 272; O.C. 1263-85, s. 71.

273. A subscriber may recover the amounts paid up to the time when he exercises his right of cancellation.

O.C. 660-83, s. 273.

274. However, in the case of unincorporated mutual funds and incorporated mutual funds, the sum that may be recovered does not exceed the net asset value of the shares or units subscribed for at the time the right to cancellation is exercised.

In addition, the dealer must refund to the subscriber the commissions and subscription fees he has paid.

O.C. 660-83, s. 274.

275. The recipient is deemed to have received the notice of a transaction or the notice of cancellation sent by mail within the normal period of delivery.

O.C. 660-83, s. 275.

276. A subscriber may also terminate his savings plan at any time after the time limit prescribed by section 272. The amounts that may then be recovered shall be determined by the Commission.

O.C. 660-83, s. 276.

CHAPTER II
RULES OF OPERATION RESPECTING THE MANAGEMENT, KEEPING AND COMPOSITION OF ASSETS OF INCORPORATED MUTUAL FUNDS AND UNINCORPORATED MUTUAL FUNDS

277. Any material change in the management, the investment policy or the keeping of the assets of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund requires the approval of the Commission.

O.C. 660-83, s. 277.

278. The Commission may refuse to approve a change that would give a determinative influence over the management company of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund to persons who do not have the competence or the integrity required to protect the investors.

O.C. 660-83, s. 278.

279. Unless the Commission decides otherwise the depository of the assets of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund must be a bank governed by the Bank Act (S.C. 1980-81-82, c. 40), a licensed trust company in accordance with the Act respecting Trust Companies and Saving Companies (chapter S-29.01) or a subsidiary of those persons.

O.C. 660-83, s. 279; L.Q. 1987, c. 95, s. 402.

280. The trustees or the management company of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund must obtain, at a meeting, the approval of the holders where there is:

- (1) a material change in the management contract;
- (2) the replacement of the advisory company by a person not affiliated with it;
- (3) a material change in the investment policy;
- (4) a change of auditor.

O.C. 660-83, s. 280.

281. An incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund is forbidden to invest in another incorporated mutual fund or another unincorporated mutual fund unless:

- (1) the fund or the company whose securities are to be purchased has obtained the receipt prescribed by section II of the Act;

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

(2) the contract with the fund or the company provides that the subscription and management charges are levied only once and the prospectus so states.

O.C. 660-83, s. 281.

282. An incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund may borrow only where the following conditions are met:

- (1) the total amount borrowed does not exceed 5 % of the net assets;
- (2) it is intended to deal temporarily with the redemption of units or shares.

However, in the case of a fund or a company that invests more than 50 % of its assets in mortgages the percentage prescribed by subparagraph 1 is raised to 10 %.

O.C. 660-83, s. 282.

283. An incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund may not:

- (1) invest more than 10 % of its total assets, calculated at the market value at the time of the transaction, in the securities of another issuer;
- (2) purchase more than 10 % of any class of securities an issuer.

However, these restrictions do not apply to the following securities:

- (1) debt securities issued or guaranteed by the Government of Québec, the Government of Canada, or of a Province of Canada;
- (2) commercial paper or deposit certificates issued or guaranteed by a bank whose securities are listed on a stock exchange recognized for that purpose.

O.C. 660-83, s. 283.

284. The net assets, calculated at market value, of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund must at any time be composed to at least 90 % of readily marketable securities or of cash.

“Readily negotiable securities” means: a freely transferable security listed on a stock exchange or that is regularly bought or sold in an organized market and of which quotations are regularly published.

O.C. 660-83, s. 284; Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

285. For the application of section 284, readily marketable securities may be replaced by assets whose resale is not subject to any restrictions and that may easily be resold at a price equal to the estimated value determined in the calculation of the net asset value.

An asset does not meet that criterion solely from the fact that a person associated with the fund or the company has agreed to repurchase it.

O.C. 660-83, s. 285; Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

286. In the case of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund that invests more than 50 % of its assets in mortgages, the Commission determines the liquidity requirements to be applied instead of those prescribed by sections 284 and 285.

O.C. 660-83, s. 286.

287. In the evaluation of the portfolio of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund, the rate of reduction obtained at the time of the purchase must be applied to the evaluation of the securities whose resale is subject to restrictions until the restrictions are lifted. However, the gradual taking into account of the actual value is permitted where the date on which the restrictions will be lifted is known.

O.C. 660-83, s. 287.

288. By derogation from section 240, the adviser of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund may not calculate his remuneration in terms of the return on the portfolio of the fund or the company unless the Commission so authorizes, on the conditions set by it.

O.C. 660-83, s. 288.

289. The price at which the securities of an incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund are offered for subscription or redeemed must be established at the date of the first appraisal following receipt of the subscription or the request for redemption.

However, the fund or company may, if it so states in the prospectus, not apply the price resulting from the first evaluation, to requests for redemption received after a certain hour or certain day preceding this evaluation.

O.C. 660-83, s. 289; Errata, 1985 G.O. 2, 1121.

290. An incorporated mutual fund or an unincorporated mutual fund may refuse the subscription for units or shares in so far as such right is mentioned in the prospectus. As the case may be, this condition is also mentioned in the subscription form.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

In such case, the fund or the company must convey its decision to the subscriber within 2 days following receipt of the subscription and must immediately return the sum subscribed.

O.C. 660-83, s. 290; O.C. 1263-85, s. 72.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

SCHEDULE I PROSPECTUS

Item 1:
Distribution spread

The information concerning the distribution spread must be given in tabular form on the first page of the prospectus.

DISTRIBUTION SPREAD

	Price to public	Dealer's remuneration	Net proceeds from distribution
Per unit
Total

Instruction

1. Any consideration other than a discount or a commission in cash must be set forth in a note following the table.

2. The table should set out separately those securities which are firmly underwritten or purchased, those under option and those to be sold on a "best efforts" basis.

3. If it is impracticable to state the offering price, the method by which it is to be determined must be explained. If the securities are to be offered at the market, indicate the market involved and the market price as of the latest practicable date.

4. If any of the securities are offered for the account of a security holder, refer on the first page to the information called for by paragraph 4 of item 26. State the portion of the expenses of distribution to be borne by the security holder.

For a natural resource company, state that the securities holder will not offer its securities until distribution of the issuer's securities is completed.

5. If debt securities are to be offered at a premium or a discount, state in bold face type the effective yield if held to maturity.

Item 2:
Plan of distribution

1. If all or part of the securities being offered are to be sold through underwriters, give the name of the underwriter and state his obligation to take up and pay for the securities. Indicate the date by which the underwriter is to purchase the securities.

2. Outline briefly any other plan of distribution. Where there is a "best efforts" offering, indicate, where practicable, on the first page the minimum amount, if any, required to be raised, and also indicate, where practicable, the maximum amount that could be raised and the latest date that the offering is to remain open.

For a natural resource company, describe the options given by the issuer or any of its subsidiaries, or the options proposed to be given.

Instructions

1. All that is required as to the nature of the underwriters' obligation is whether the underwriters are or will be committed to take up and pay for all of the securities if any are taken up, or whether the underwriting is merely a "best efforts" arrangement under which the underwriters are required to take up and pay for only such securities as, they may sell.

2. Where an underwriting is subject to a market out clause, a statement to that effect should be made, as set out in the following example:

"Under an agreement dated _____ 19____ between the company and _____ as _____ the company has agreed to issue and _____ has agreed to purchase on _____ 19____ the following securities _____ at a price of $_____ payable in cash to the company against delivery. The obligations of _____ under the agreement may be terminated at its discretion on the basis of its assessment of the state of the financial markets and may also be terminated upon the occurrence of certain stated events. _____ is, however, obligated to take up and pay for all of the _____ if any of the _____ are purchased under the agreement."

3. For a natural resource company, describe the options, stating the material provisions including:

(1) the designation and number of the securities called for by such options;

(2) the purchase prices of the securities called for and the expiration dates of such options; and

(3) the market value of the securities called for by such options as of the latest practicable date.

IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

Item 3: Market for securities

Where no market exists, or will exist after the distribution, state in bold face type on the first page:

“There is no market through which these securities may be sold.”

Disclose how the price paid to the company was established, whether by negotiation with the underwriter, arbitrarily by the company, or otherwise.

Item 4: Summary of prospectus

Give a synopsis near the beginning of the prospectus of the information contained in the body of the prospectus which would be most likely to influence the investor's decision to purchase the security.

Instructions

1. This summary should highlight in condensed form the information, both favourable and adverse, including risk factors in Item 10, about both the issuer and the securities.
2. Appropriate cross references may be made to items in the prospectus where information is difficult to summarize accurately, but this shall not detract from the necessity to have the salient points summarized in the summary.

Item 5: Use of net proceeds from distribution

1. Indicate the net proceeds that the issuer expects to obtain from the distribution, the principal uses planned for the money, and the funds assigned for each use.
2. Provide the details of any agreement prescribing that any part of the net proceeds will be kept in trust or will only become available when certain conditions are fulfilled.

Instructions

1. The information concerning use of the net proceeds must be sufficiently precise. In most cases, it is not sufficient to say that “the proceeds of the distribution will be used for general corporate purposes.”

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

For a natural resource company, specify whether unallocated funds will be placed in a trust or escrow account, invested or added to the working capital of the issuer. Give details of the arrangements made for, and the persons responsible for the supervision of the trust or escrow account or the investments of unallocated funds and the investment policy to be followed. Where unallocated funds are to be added to working capital, indicate the reason for doing so.

2. Indicate, in order of priority, the uses that will be made of the proceeds of the distribution in the case where they are less than expected. However, this information is not necessary in the case of a firm underwriting.

3. If material funds must be added to the proceeds of the distribution, indicate those sums and their source. If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is allocated to retirement of a loan, indicate the use of those funds in the case of loans incurred within the last 2 years.

4. If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is used for the acquisition of property, outside the normal course of business of the issuer, briefly describe those properties and provide the details of the price paid or attributed for the different classes of property. Indicate from whom the properties were acquired and how the cost of acquisition was determined. Describe briefly the title to the property or the rights that the issuer has acquired. Where the consideration for those properties includes securities of the issuer, provide all the details, including those concerning the attribution or issuance of securities of the same class during the 2 preceding years.

Item 6: Sales otherwise than for cash

If any of the securities being offered are to be offered otherwise than for cash, give full particulars on the terms of payment.

Instructions

If the offer is to be made pursuant to a plan of acquisition, describe briefly the general effect of the plan and state when it became or is to become operative.

Item 7: Capital structure

Furnish, in tabular form, and where appropriate in notes thereto, the following information:

- (1) particulars of the share and loan capital of the issuer;

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

(3) the aggregate amount of the minority interest in the preference shares, if any, and the aggregate amount of the minority interest in the common shares and surplus of all subsidiaries whose financial statements are contained in the prospectus on a consolidated basis;

(4) the information required under paragraph 3 for subsidiaries whose financial statements are contained in the prospectus on an individual basis;

(5) for a finance company, any potential dilution of the assets per share and earnings per share, giving effect to the current issue and to all existing options, warrants and conversion rights in relation to any capital security of the credit company. .

Designation of security	Amount authorized or to be authorized	Amount outstanding as of the date of the most recent balance sheet	Amount outstanding as of a specific date within 60 days	Amount to be outstanding if all securities being issued are sold

1. Include all indebtedness for borrowed money for which a written understanding exists that the indebtedness may extend beyond one year. Do not include other indebtedness classified as current liabilities unless secured.

2. Individual items of indebtedness which are not in excess of 3 % of total assets as shown in the balance sheet referred to in Column 3 may be set out in a single aggregate amount under an appropriate caption such as "Sundry Indebtedness".

3. Include in the table the amount of obligations under financial leases capitalized in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Set out in a note to the table a cross reference to any note in the financial statements containing information concerning the extent of obligations arising by virtue of other leases on real property.

4. Give particulars of the amount, general description of and security for any substantial indebtedness proposed to be created or assumed by the issuer or its subsidiaries.

5. Where practicable, state in general terms the respective priorities of the indebtedness.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

6. No information need be given under Column 2 with respect to the capital stock of subsidiaries.

7. Set out in a note to the table:

8. The 60-day period referred to in Column 4 is to be calculated within 60 days of the date of the preliminary prospectus or the date of the draft prospectus. Where more than 60 days have elapsed from the date of the preliminary or draft prospectus, the information included in the prospectus shall, if feasible, be updated to a date within 60 days of the final prospectus.

9. For a finance company, where short term notes are issued on an agency basis, the information required in Column 5 may be omitted with the consent of the Commission.

10. For a finance company, where the amount outstanding as of a specific date within the 60-day period prescribed in paragraph 8 cannot be precisely calculated, an estimated figure should be used, with a note indicating the basis of calculation.

Item 8:

4. An option, right or warrant whose term is extended is deemed to be a new option, right or warrant.
 5. Where there is no market for the securities to which the options, rights or warrants are attached, indicate the method of determining the price of such securities at the date of purchase or exercise.
 6. This item does not apply to options granted to a firm underwriter.
 7. The information prescribed by this item may be submitted in tabular form.

Item 13:

2. Provide the details of any agreement prescribing that any part of the net proceeds will be kept in trust or will only become available when certain conditions are fulfilled.

Instructions

1. The information concerning use of the net proceeds must be sufficiently precise. In most cases, it is not sufficient to say that "the proceeds of the distribution will be used for general corporate purpose."
2. Indicate, in order of priority, the uses that will be made of the proceeds of the distribution in the case where they are less than expected. However, this information is not necessary in the case of a firm underwriting.
3. If material funds must be added to the proceeds of the distribution, indicate those sums and their source. If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is allocated to retirement of a loan, indicate the use of those funds in the case of loans incurred within the last 2 years.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

4. If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is used for the acquisition of property, outside the normal course business of the issuer, briefly describe those properties and provide the details of the price paid or attributed for the different classes of property. Indicate from whom the properties were acquired and how the cost of acquisition was determined. Describe briefly the title to the property or the rights that the issuer has acquired. Where the consideration for those properties includes securities of the issuer, provide all the details, including those concerning the attribution or issuance of securities of the same class during the 2 preceding years.

Item 14: Assets and earnings coverage

3. In the case of restricted shares, comply with the policy statements of the Commission.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

Instructions

1. This item requires only a brief summary of the provisions that are material from an investment standpoint. Do not set out verbatim the provisions attaching to the shares.
2. If the rights attaching to the shares offered are materially limited by those attached to another security or if a security (other than obligations covered in Item 16) ranks ahead of or equally with the shares being offered, include information regarding such other securities that will enable investors to understand the rights attaching to the shares being offered. If any shares being offered are to be offered in exchange for other securities, an appropriate description of the other securities shall be given. No information need be given, however, as to any class of securities that is to be redeemed or otherwise retired, provided appropriate steps to assure redemption or retirement have been or will be taken prior to or contemporaneously with the delivery of the shares being offered.
3. The text of the clauses applying to the shares may be given in a schedule to the prospectus.
4. The issuer does not need to state that the securities offered may not be deposited in response to a take-over bid where its incorporating documents contain provisions respecting the convertibility of its non-voting or limited voting shares at the time of a take-over bid.

Item 16: Obligations

Describe the obligations offered and the security therefor providing the following information:

- (1) the interest rate, maturity, redemption or any other method of retirement, sinking fund and conversion rights;
- (2) the nature and rank of any security, with identifying the principal properties given as security;
- (3) provisions permitting or restricting the issuance of additional securities, the incurring of additional indebtedness and other material negative covenants, including restrictions respecting dividend distribution or the giving of security on the assets of the issuer or its subsidiaries, and provisions as to the release or substitution of assets given as security or the modification of the terms of such security;

SCHEDULE VII.1 INFORMATION DOCUMENT CONCERNING EXCHANGE TRADED OPTIONS

No securities commission or similar authority in Canada has in any way passed upon the merits of options referred to herein and any representation to the contrary is an offence. This document contains condensed information respecting the options referred to herein. Additional information may be obtained from your dealer.

DISCLOSURE STATEMENT FOR EXCHANGE TRADED OPTIONS

A high degree of risk may be involved in the purchase and sale of options, depending to a large measure on how and why options are used. Options may not be suitable for every investor. See "Risks in options trading" and "Additional information".

Introduction

This disclosure statement sets forth general information and considerations relevant to the purchase and sale of put and call options traded on an exchange and cleared through a clearing corporation. Information concerning the underlying interests on which options are traded, the specific terms of these options, the exchanges on which they trade and the applicable clearing corporations may be obtained from your dealer. Information on investment strategies and possible uses of options may also be obtained from your dealer.

This disclosure statement refers only to options and clearing corporations which have been recognized or qualified for purposes of this disclosure statement by provincial securities administrators where required.

Nature of an option

An option is a contract entered into on the floor on an exchange between a seller (sometimes called a "writer") and a purchaser where all the terms of the contract (sometimes called the "specifications"), other than the consideration (called the "premium") for the option paid by the purchaser to the seller, are standardized and predetermined by the exchange. The premium is determined on an exchange's auction market on the basis of supply and demand, reflecting such factors as the duration of the option, the difference between the exercise price of the option and the market price of the underlying interest, the price volatility and other characteristics of the underlying interest.

There are 2 types of options: calls and puts. An option gives the purchaser a right to buy (in case of a call) or sell (in case of a put) a specific underlying interest at a stated exercise price and within a specified period of time or on a specific date. An option subjects the seller to an obligation to honour the right granted to the purchaser if exercised by the purchaser. Underlying interests can be shares of a specific corporation, bonds, notes, bills, certificates of deposit, commodities, foreign currency, the cash value of an interest in a stock index or any other interest provided for in the specifications.

An option transaction is entered into on the floor of an exchange by a purchaser and a seller represented by their respective dealers. When the transaction is concluded it is cleared by a clearing corporation affiliated with the exchange on which the option is traded. When an option transaction is cleared by the clearing corporation it is divided into 2 contracts with the clearing corporation becoming the seller to the purchaser in the transaction and the purchaser to the seller. Thus on every outstanding option, the purchaser may exercise the option against the clearing corporation and the seller may be called upon to perform his obligation through exercise of the option by the clearing corporation.

There are 2 groups of options: actual delivery options and cash delivery options. An actual delivery option requires the physical delivery of the underlying interest when the option is exercised. A cash delivery option requires a cash payment of the difference between the aggregate exercise price and the value of the underlying interest when the option is exercised.

Options are issued in series designated by an expiration month, an exercise price, an underlying interest and a unit of trading. At the time trading is introduced in options with a new expiration month, the exchange on which the option is traded establishes exercise prices that reflect the current spot prices of the underlying interest. Generally, 3 series of options are introduced with exercise prices at, below and above the current spot price. When the spot price of the underlying interest moves, additional options may be added with different exercise prices. Options having the same underlying interest and expiration month, but having different exercise prices, may trade at the same time.

Specifications of options

Each exchange fixes the terms and conditions of the options which it lists. These terms may include such items as trading units, exercise prices, expiration dates, last day of trading, etc.

An option may be bought or sold only on the trading floor of the exchange on which the option is listed. The exchange and the clearing corporation may each impose restrictions on certain types of transactions, and under certain circumstances may modify the terms of outstanding options. In addition, an exchange may limit the number of options on the same side of the market which may be held by an investor (totalling long calls and short puts, and totalling short calls and long puts), and may limit the exercise of options under prescribed circumstances.

Exercising options

An option may have either an American style exercise or European style exercise irrespective of where the exchange is located. An American style option can be exercised by the purchaser at any time before the expiration. To do this, the purchaser notifies the dealer through whom the option was purchased. A purchaser should ascertain in advance from his dealer the latest date on which he may give such notice to his dealer. An European style option may only be exercised by the purchaser on a specified date. Upon receiving an exercise notice from the purchaser's dealer, the clearing corporation assigns it to a member which may reassign to it a client on a random or other predetermined selection basis.

The assignment of a notice of exercise of an option to a seller constitutes the exercise of the option. Upon exercise, the seller must make delivery of (in the case of a call) or take delivery of and pay for (in the case of a put) the underlying interest. In the case of a cash delivery option, the seller must, in lieu of delivery, pay the positive difference between the aggregate exercise price and the exercise value of the underlying interest (in the case of both a call and a put).

A purchaser of an option which expires loses the premium paid for the option and his transaction costs. The seller of an option which expires will have as his gain the premium received for the option less his transaction costs.

Trading of options

Each exchange provides a facility for secondary market trading of its options whereby, prior to expiration of an option, a purchaser may close his open long position through a closing sale transaction, if available, and a seller may close his open short position through a closing purchase transaction, if available. Closing purchase and sale transactions (sometimes called "offsetting transactions") must be effected through the dealer through whom the option was initially sold or purchased.

Price movements in the underlying interest of an option will generally be reflected to some extent in the secondary market value of the option and the purchaser who wishes to realize a profit will have to sell or exercise his option.

Margin requirements

Prior to trading options, a seller must deposit with his dealer cash or securities as collateral (called "margin") for the obligation to buy (in the case of a put) or sell (in the case of a call) the underlying interest if the option should be exercised. Minimum margin rates are set by the exchange on which the option trades. Higher rates of margin may be required by the seller's dealer.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

Margin requirements of various exchanges may differ. In addition, they are subject to change at any time and such changes may apply retroactively to options positions previously established.

Commission charges

Commissions are charged by dealers on the purchase or sale of options as well as on the exercise of options and the delivery of underlying interests.

Risks in options trading

Options can be employed to serve a number of investment strategies including those concerning investments in or related to underlying interests. SOME STRATEGIES FOR BUYING AND SELLING OPTIONS INVOLVE GREATER RISK THAN OTHERS.

The following is a brief summary of some of the risks connected with trading in options:

1. Because an option has a limited life, the purchaser runs the risk of losing his entire investment in a relatively short period of time. If the price of the underlying interest does not rise above (in the case of a call) or fall below (in the case of a put) the exercise price of the option plus premium and commission charges during the life of the option, or by the specified date for exercise, as the case may be, the option may be of little or no value and if allowed to expire will be worthless.

2. The seller of a call who does not own the underlying interest is subject to a risk of loss should the price of the underlying interest increase. If the call is exercised and the seller is required to purchase the underlying interest at a market price above the exercise price in order to make delivery, he may suffer a loss.

3. The seller of a put who does not have a corresponding short position (that is an obligation to deliver what he does not own) in the underlying interest may suffer a loss if the price of the underlying interest decreases below the exercise price, plus commission charges minus the premium received. Under such circumstances, the seller of the put will be required to purchase the underlying interest at a price above the market price, with the result that any immediate sale will give rise to a loss.

4. The seller of a call who owns the underlying interest is subject to the full risk of his investment position should the market price of the underlying interest decline during the life of the call, or by the specified date for exercise, as the case may be, but will not share in any gain above the exercise price.

5. The seller of a put who has a corresponding short position in the underlying interest is subject to the full risk of his investment position should the market price of the underlying interest rise during the life of the put, or by the specified date for exercise, as the case may be, but will not share in any gain resulting from a decrease in price below the exercise price.

6. Transactions for certain options may be carried out in a foreign currency. Accordingly, purchasers and sellers of these options using Canadian dollars will be exposed to risks from fluctuations in the foreign exchange market as well as to risks in the fluctuations in the price of the underlying interest.

7. There can be no assurance that a liquid offset market will exist for a particular option to permit a closing sale transaction or a closing purchase transaction. For example, there may be insufficient trading interest in the particular option; or trading halls, suspensions or other restrictions may be imposed on the option or the underlying interest; or some event may interrupt normal exchange operations; or an exchange could for regulatory or other reasons decide or be compelled to discontinue or restrict trading in the option. In such circumstances the purchaser of the option would only have the alternative of exercising his option in order to realize any profit, and the seller would be unable to terminate his obligation until the option expired or until he performed his obligation upon being assigned an exercise notice. In the case of an American style option, the purchaser can exercise his option at any time until expiration and the seller can receive an exercise notice at any time until expiration. In the case of an European style option, the purchaser can only exercise his option on a specified date and the seller can only receive an exercise after the exercise.

8. The seller of an American style option has no control over when he might be assigned an exercise notice. He must assume that an exercise notice will be assigned to him at any time when exercise is advantageous to the purchaser and that, in such circumstances, the seller may incur a loss.

9. In unforeseen circumstances there may be a shortage of underlying interests available for delivery upon exercise of actual delivery options, which could increase the cost of or make impossible the acquisition of the underlying interests in the spot market and cause the clearing corporation to impose special exercise settlement procedures.

10. In addition to the risks described above which apply generally to the buying and selling of options, there are timing risks unique to options that are settled by the payment of cash.

The exercise of options settled in cash results in a cash payment from the seller to the purchaser based on the difference between the exercise price of the option and the closing price (regardless of the actual time of exercise) of the underlying interest on the day of exercise.

The purchaser of a cash delivery option who exercises the option prior to the close of trading in the underlying interest will suffer from any unfavourable change in the value of the underlying interest from the time of his decision to exercise to the close of trading in the underlying interest when the exercise value is determined. With actual delivery options, this risk can be covered by a complementary transaction in the actual market for the underlying interest.

The seller of a cash delivery option is not informed that he has been assigned an exercise notice at the earliest until the business day following exercise and the seller will suffer from any unfavourable change in the value of the underlying interest from the close of trading in the underlying interest on the day of exercise to the time he learns that he has been assigned. Unlike the seller of an actual delivery option, the seller of a cash delivery option cannot satisfy his assignment obligations by delivery of the lower valued underlying interest, but must pay cash in an amount determined by the closing price of the underlying interest on the exercise date.

The type of risk discussed above makes spread positions and certain other combined option strategies involving cash delivery options substantially more risky than similar strategies involving actual delivery options.

Tax consequences

The income tax consequences of trading in options are dependent upon the nature of the business activities of the investor and the transaction in question. Investors are urged to consult their own professional advisers to determine the consequences applicable to their particular circumstances.

SUMMARY DISCLOSURE STATEMENT WITH RESPECT TO EXCHANGE-TRADED COMMODITY FUTURES OPTIONS

PART I
INTRODUCTION

This Summary Disclosure Statement describes in general terms the nature, the requirements for and the risks involved in the purchase or sale of Commodity Futures Options in transactions on a Commodity Futures Exchange, which transactions are cleared through the facilities of the appropriate clearing house.

Generally, a Commodity Futures Option (option) is a contract which gives the Holder or Purchaser, for a consideration, the right to buy or sell a specific futures contract (the "Underlying Futures Contract") at a stated Exercises Price and within a specified period of time. The consideration is the Premium that is paid for the purchase and sale of an option, and this Premium is determined by agreement of the parties in a transaction on the floor of a Commodity Futures Exchange. The Premium is paid by the Purchaser ("Holder") and is received by the Seller ("Writer") of an option. No portion of the Premium is retained by the exchange on which the option transaction is executed nor by the clearing house through whose facilities the transaction is cleared. In addition, buyers and sellers of options pay transaction costs, which may include commissions, fees and other charges that may be incurred in connection with each option transaction.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

Before you trade commodity futures options, you should carefully read this statement. This is important because of the particular risks involved.

If you plan to buy a commodity futures option, you should realize that you will pay both a premium and a commission. The premium compensates the seller or writer of the option, for the risks he assumes; the commission compensates the dealer who handles the transaction for you. Accordingly, if you are to avoid a loss, the price of the underlying futures contract must – before the expiry of the option – rise above or fall below the exercise price, as the case may be, sufficiently to absorb both the premium and the commission.

If you plan to sell a commodity futures option, you should realize that you will be obligated to buy or sell the underlying futures contract should the purchaser decide to exercise the option. If you write an option and you do not have a corresponding long or short position in the underlying futures contract, there is no limit to your possible loss, which is determined entirely by the amount of the rise or decline in the price of the underlying futures contract.

No securities commission or similar authority in Canada has in any way passed upon the merits of commodity futures options described herein and any representation to the contrary is an offence.

This is not the only part of this Disclosure Statement that is important. You should study carefully Part II of this Disclosure Statement and ask any questions about it that may not be clear to you before you enter your first transaction.

NATURE OF COMMODITY FUTURES OPTIONS

When you trade a Commodity Futures Option (option), you are entering into an agreement you acquire the right (if you are a Holder) or the obligation (if you are a Writer) to buy or sell the Underlying Futures Contract at a stated Exercise Price on or before a specified Expiration Date. The Holder of the option pays a consideration called "Premium" to acquire the right, whereas the Writer of the option receives the Premium as compensation for undertaking the obligation.

There are 2 types of options – the Call Option and the Put Option. A Call Option gives the Holder the right to buy and the Writer the obligation to sell the Underlying Futures Contract. A Put Option on the other hand gives the Holder the right to sell and the Writer the obligation to buy the Underlying Futures Contract.

With the exception of the Premium, all the other terms of Commodity Futures Options are standardized and determined by the Commodity Futures Exchange on which they are traded, particularly the Exercise price and Expiration Date. The Premium is not fixed and is determined on an exchange's auction market on the basis of supply and demand, reflecting such factors as the duration of the option, the difference between the Exercise Price of the option and the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract, and the price volatility and other characteristics of the Underlying Futures Contract.

As the Holder of an option, you may exercise your right to buy or sell the Underlying Futures Contract at any time before the Expiration Date of the option. If you exercise a Call Option, you will buy the Underlying Futures Contract, thereby assuming a long position in the futures contract market. If you exercise a Put Option, you will sell the Underlying Futures Contract, thereby assuming a short position in the futures contract market.

As the Writer of an option, you may be assigned an exercise notice at any time prior to the Expiration Date of the option, in which event you will be obligated to buy or sell the Underlying Futures Contract. If the exercise notice involves a Call Option that you have written, you will be required to sell the Underlying Futures Contract, thereby assuming a short position in the futures contract market. If the exercise notice involves a Put Option that you have written, you will be required to buy the Underlying Futures contract, thereby assuming a long position in the futures contract market.

Whether you are a Holder or a Writer of an option, if as a result of an exercise of the option you assume a position in the Underlying Futures Contract, you will be subject to the margin requirements for and all of the risks associated with futures contract trading. Before you trade Commodity Futures Options, therefore, you should understand the procedures for and the consequences resulting from the exercise of an option. These are described in more detail under "Exercising Commodity Futures Options".

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

The Holder of an option is not obligated to exercise his option if it is not profitable for him to do so, in which case the option expires worthless and he loses the premium he paid for it. If the Holder does not exercise his option, the Writer's obligation under the option ceases upon the expiry of the option, and he profits from the transaction because he retains the premium paid by the Holder.

Insted of exercising his option, however, the Holder may choose to offset his position prior to the Expiration Date of the option if it is profitable for him to do so. He can do this by executing a closing sale transaction. The Writer of an option may avoid his obligation by offsetting his position at any time prior to the expiry of the option. He can do this by executing a closing purchase transaction. Thus, the Holder of a Call Option may liquidate his position by selling a Call Option of the same series as the one previously purchased, whereas the Writer of a Call Option offsets his position by buying a Call Option of the same series as the one previously sold. The Holder of a Put Option liquidates his position by selling a Put Option of the same series as the one previously purchased, whereas the Writer of a Put Option offsets his position by buying a Put Option of the same series as the one previously sold.

Although Commodity Futures Options trading has this offsetting feature which can, in some way, limit the risks of trading options, there may be certain circumstances under which it may not be possible for you to offset your option position. These situations and their possible adverse effects are described under "Mechanics of Commodity Futures Option Trading".

CERTAIN RISK FACTORS

Commodity Futures Options are speculative. Consequently, only risk capital should be used to trade them. Before a person purchases or writes an option, he should inform himself of the risks involved and should determine whether such a transaction is appropriate for him in light of his financial situation and investment objectives.

Since the value of a Commodity Futures Option depends largely upon the likelihood of favorable price movements in the Underlying Futures Contract in relation to the Exercise Price during the life of the option, historical price and volume information concerning the Underlying Futures Contract may be significant in evaluating the risks of an option transaction. Historical price and volume information are available through various financial publications and in the financial press. Notwithstanding the availability of such information, however, specific market movements in the price of the Underlying Futures Contract cannot be accurately predicted.

Some of the risks involved in trading Commodity Futures Options are summarized below:

1. The purchaser of a Call or Put option runs the risk of losing his entire investment – that is, the Premium paid for the option plus all transaction costs – in a relatively short period of time.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

With respect to the purchase of a Call Option, should the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract not rise above the Exercise Price, the Call Option becomes entirely unprofitable at its expiration. Furthermore, if for some reason the Call Option cannot subsequently be sold on an exchange (see "Mechanics of Commodity Futures Options Trading"), the value of the Underlying Futures Contract must move sufficiently above the Exercise Price to cover the Premium and transaction costs in order that the option can be exercised at a profit. The risk of purchasing a Call Option is particularly great where the Exercise Price is considerably above the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract, or where the option is approaching its Expiration Date. In these circumstances, there is less likelihood of the Call Option increasing in value so as to make it profitable for the Holder to exercise the option or effect an offsetting transaction. Anyone purchasing such a Call Option must expect to lose the amount paid for it and related transaction costs.

With respect to the purchase of a Put Option, should the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract not decline below the Exercise Price, the Put Option becomes entirely unprofitable at its expiration. Furthermore, if for some reason the Put Option cannot subsequently be sold on an exchange (see "Mechanics of Commodity Futures Options Trading"), the value of the Underlying Futures Contract must move sufficiently below the Exercise Price to cover the Premium and transaction costs in order that the option can be exercised at a profit. The risk of purchasing a Put Option is particularly great where the Exercise Price is considerably below the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract, or where the option is approaching its Expiration Date. In these circumstances, there is less likelihood of the Put Option increasing in value so as to make it profitable for the Holder to exercise the option or effect an offsetting transaction. Anyone purchasing such a Put Option must expect to lose the amount paid for it and related transaction costs.

Accordingly, you should not commit any amount of money to the purchase of Calls or Puts unless you are able to withstand the loss of the entire amount so committed.

2. The Writer of a Call Option who does not have a long position in the Underlying Futures Contract is subject to a risk of loss should the price of the Underlying Futures Contract increase. He may be required to sell the Underlying Futures Contract at an Exercise Price which could be less than the price he must pay to acquire the Underlying Futures Contract.

This type of Call Option writing is extremely risky, and a person engaging in such Call Option transactions could incur large losses. Therefore, only sophisticated investors having substantial capital should engage in this type of transaction. Even such persons must expect to incur substantial losses in many of these Call writing transactions.

3. The Writer of a Call Option who has a long position in the Underlying Futures Contract deliverable upon exercise of the option is subject to the full risk of his underlying position in case of a decline in the price of the Underlying Futures Contract, although he has limited protection against such risk to the extent of the Premium received in writing the Call Option. In exchange for the Premium, however, and as long as he remains the Writer of a Call Option, he gives up the opportunity for gain resulting from an increase in the price of the Underlying Futures Contract above the Exercise Price because of the likelihood that the Call Option will be exercised by the Holder.

4. The Writer of a Put Option who does not have a short position in the Underlying Futures Contract is subject to risk of loss should the price of the Underlying Futures Contract decline. He may be required to buy the Underlying Futures Contract at an Exercise Price which could be more than the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract.

This type of Put Option writing is extremely risky, and a person engaging in such Put Option transactions could incur large losses. Therefore, only sophisticated investors having substantial capital should engage in this type of transaction. Even such persons must expect to incur substantial losses in many of these Put writing transactions.

5. The Writer of a Put Option who has a short position in the Underlying Futures Contract is subject to the full risk of his underlying position in case of a rise in the price of the Underlying Futures Contract, although he has limited protection against such risk to the extent of the Premium received in writing the Put Option. In exchange for the Premium, however, and as long as he remains the Writer of a Put Option, he gives up the opportunity for gain resulting from a decline in the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract because of the likelihood that the Put Option will be exercised by the Holder.

It should be emphasized that the Writer of a Call or Put Option has no control over when he might be required to respond to an exercise notice. Indeed, he must assume that he may be assigned an exercise notice at any time when the exercise of a Call or Put Option is advantageous to the Holder and that in such circumstances the Writer may incur a loss.

The risks of Commodity Futures Options transactions described above may be moderated to the extent that a market in particular options is available on a Commodity Futures Exchange. This permits Holders and Writers in the appropriate circumstances to limit their losses by closing out or offsetting their positions prior to the time trading in these options ceases. Remember, however, that an offset market may not exist for a particular option under certain circumstances. This possibility should always be taken into account in considering the risks of Commodity Futures Options trading.

MECHANICS OF COMMODITY FUTURES OPTIONS TRADING

The rules of the Commodity Futures Exchange on which a Commodity Futures Option is listed govern the trading of such option. Under such rules, options can be bought and sold only on the trading floor of the exchange. Furthermore, the trading mechanisms established by such rules are designed to provide for competitive execution of buy and sell orders, and to make available to buyers and sellers a continuous market in which an option purchased can later be sold or an option sold can later be liquidated by an offsetting purchase.

Although each exchange's trading mechanisms are designed to provide market liquidity for the options traded on that exchange, it must be recognized that there can be no assurance that a liquid offset market on the exchange will exist for any particular option, or at any particular time, and for some options, no offset market on that exchange may exist at all. The following are among the reasons why it may be impossible to offset an option position: (i) there may be insufficient trading interest in certain options; (ii) the exchange may have imposed restrictions on certain options; (iii) trading halts, suspensions or other restrictions may be imposed; (iv) unusual or unforeseen circumstances may interrupt normal exchange operations; (v) one or more exchanges could, for regulatory or other reasons, decide or be compelled at some future date to discontinue or restrict trading of options. In such circumstances, offsetting trades cannot be made although existing options will continue to be exercisable in accordance with their terms.

If any of the foregoing events, it might not be possible to effect offsetting transactions in particular options. Under those circumstances, the market price of the Underlying Futures Contract must either rise above or fall below (as the case may be) the Exercise Price of the option by an amount in excess of the Premium and other costs incurred in the purchase of the option in order for it to be profitable. But in order for the Holder of an option to actually realize a profit, he would have to exercise the option, in which event he would have to comply with the margin requirements for the Underlying Futures Contract. On the other hand, the Writer of the option cannot do anything about his option position because he does not have a right to exercise. His obligation under the option cannot be terminated until it expires and the Holder has not exercised his right.

Exchanges may also have rules which limit the amount of price fluctuation for commodity futures contracts and Commodity Futures Options during a single trading day. It should be emphasized, however, that not all futures contracts and not all Commodity Futures Options are subject to such limits. For those that are subject to daily limits, the limits may be removed at some point prior to the respective delivery month or Expiration Date. For those that are not subject to daily limits, exchange rules may provide for the imposition of limits under certain circumstances.

You should fully understand provisions relating to daily limits which are applicable to specific Commodity Futures Options and their related Underlying Futures Contracts.

Where daily limits are in effect, they establish the maximum amount that the Premium for an option may vary from the previous day's price. Once the daily limit has been reached in a particular option, no trades may be made at a price beyond the limit.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

Positions in the option contracts can be opened or closed out only if traders are willing to offset trades at or within the limit during the period for trading on such day. The daily limit rule does not limit losses which might be suffered by a client, because it may prevent the liquidation of unfavorable positions. Also, option prices may move the daily limit for several consecutive trading days, thus preventing liquidation and subjecting a person with a Commodity Futures Option position to possible substantial losses.

MARGIN REQUIREMENTS

Margins with respect to Commodity Futures Options apply only to Writers of options. The Holders have already paid a Premium in order to acquire the right to buy or sell the Underlying Futures Contract and, since Holders do not need to maintain margins, they have no further financial obligation. Writers of options, on the other hand, have accepted a Premium in return for taking on the obligation to buy or sell the Underlying Futures Contract and, therefore, must maintain margins at rates set by the Commodity Futures Exchange or at such higher rates as may be required by the dealer. In addition, Writers of options may be required to pay additional margin in the event of adverse market movement.

The margin requirements of the various Commodity Futures Exchanges may differ significantly. In addition, they are subject to change at any time, and such changes may even apply retroactively to options positions previously established.

Before you consider selling or writing a Commodity Futures Option, therefore, you should ask your dealer for information on specific margin requirements and assure yourself that you have sufficient available capital to meet increases in margin requirements, should such increases occur.

EXERCISING COMMODITY FUTURES OPTIONS

At any time on or before the Expiration Date of a Commodity Futures Option, the Holder may exercise the option and assume a long position (in case of a Call Option) or a short position (in case of a Put Option) in the Underlying Futures Contract at the stated Exercise price. In order to do so, the Holder notifies his dealer who, in turn, deposits an exercise notice with the clearing house. The Holder of an option should ascertain from his dealer what advance notice is required to enable the dealer to deposit the required exercise notice with the clearing house on or before the Expiration Date. The clearing house forwards this notice to a clearing member who has a short position in that particular option and who is selected in accordance with clearing house rules. Such clearing member then selects, in accordance with its own rules, a particular Writer who must then sell (in case of a Call Option) or buy (in case of a Put Option) the Underlying Futures Contract.

Both the Holder and the Writer of the option assume a long or short position, as the case may be, in the underlying Futures Contract, and both will be subject to the margin requirements for and all of the risks associated with futures contracts trading, unless they already hold an opposite long or short position in the Underlying Futures Contract in which case there would be an automatic offset.

Having acquired a position (whether long or short) in the Underlying Futures Contract, the Holder or the Writer may become obligated to make or take delivery, as the case may be, of the commodity represented thereby unless before the delivery month provided for in the futures contract, they elect to offset their position by buying or selling the same futures contract with the same delivery month. In that event, they will be obligated to pay their respective dealers a "round-turn" commission. If, on the other hand, they elect to make or take delivery of the underlying commodity, they may be required to pay additional costs incidental to the delivery process. In the meantime, as long as the Holder or the Writer maintains his position in the Underlying Futures Contract, he will be required to maintain margin deposit at rates set by the Commodity Futures Exchange or at such higher rates as the dealer may require.

EXPIRATION DATE OF COMMODITY FUTURES OPTIONS

The Expiration Date of a Commodity Futures Option is the last day on which the Holder can exercise his option by purchasing (in case of a Call Option) or selling (in case of a Put Option) the Underlying Futures Contract at the stated Exercise Price. If the Holder does not wish to exercise his option but believes that it would be profitable for him to effect an offsetting transaction, he should advise his dealer well in advance of the last trading day for that particular option so that the dealer will have sufficient time within which to execute his order. Similarly, if the Writer believes that it would be profitable for him to effect an offsetting transaction, he should give instructions to his dealer well ahead of the last trading day.

The last day of trading for a Commodity Futures Option is usually the date prior to the Expiration Date. Both the last day of trading and the Expiration Date are indicated on the contract specifications for each Commodity Futures Option, and they often vary among the different options. You should always inform yourself about these terms of an option and, in particular, you should determine your dealer's policy with respect to the cut-off date prior to the last day of trading for each option during which they would accept orders to execute offsetting transactions. These cut-off dates are important, especially if you are considering offsetting your option position at a time close to the Expiration Date. If you miss the cut-off date established by your dealer, it might be extremely difficult for you to liquidate your position.

If the Holder chooses not to exercise his option or if, for some reason, he is unable to effect an offsetting transaction, the option will lapse on the Expiration Date and the Holder loses his right under the option. In that event, the Writer's obligation under the option is terminated.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

CLEARING

In order to assure the performance of obligations under Commodity Futures Options, traders on the Commodity Futures Exchanges are required to use the facilities of the appropriate clearing house to which all trades in options are reported daily following the close of each trading session and are marked to the market for daily cash settlement. Members of the clearing house are also members of the corresponding Commodity Futures Exchange, but not all members of the exchange are clearing members.

When an option trade has been cleared with the clearing house, the contractual ties between the original Holder and the Writer of the option are severed. The clearing house becomes the principal liable to each clearing member who is party to such trade. Clearing members are themselves contractually obligated to the clearing house vis-à-vis the Holders or Writers they represent. Accordingly, the aggregate obligations of the clearing house to clearing members who represent Holders of options are balanced by the aggregate obligations which clearing members who represent Writers of options owe to the clearing house.

CURRENCY

Whether you plan to buy or sell a Commodity Futures Option, you should realize that some transactions are carried out in foreign currencies. Accordingly, if you are using Canadian Dollars in your transactions, you are exposed to the risks arising from the price fluctuations of foreign currencies in the foreign exchange market.

COMMISSION AND OTHER TRANSACTION COSTS

As the Holder of a Commodity Futures Option, in addition to the Premium that you pay for acquiring the option, you will pay commission to the dealer who purchased the option for you. If you offset your position through a closing sale transaction, you pay another commission. If you exercise your option and assume an opening long (in case of a Call Option) or short (in case of a Put Option) position in the Underlying Futures Contract, you will not be required to pay commission. However, when you subsequently close out your position in the Underlying Futures Contract, then you will pay your dealer a "round-turn" commission.

As the Writer of a Commodity Futures Option, you only pay commission to the dealer who sold the option for you. If you offset your position through a closing purchase transaction, you pay another commission. If the option is exercised against you and you assume an opening short (in case of a Call Option) or long (in case of a Put Option) position in the Underlying Futures Contract, you will not be required to pay commission. However, when you subsequently close out your position in the Underlying Futures Contract, you will then pay your dealer a "round-turn" commission.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

Commission rates vary among different dealers. In addition, there may be other charges and fees involved in each option transaction apart from the commission. You should ask your dealer about all the costs that may be incurred in options transactions and take them into account in considering whether or not to trade Commodity Futures Options.

EXCHANGE AND CLEARING HOUSE

The Commodity Futures Options described in this Disclosure Statement are traded on Commodity Futures Exchanges which are regulated by the appropriate government agency under whose jurisdiction they are operating as such. Each exchange has its own Commodity Futures Option listed for trading on its auction market by its own members. Each exchange has by-laws and rules that regulate the trading of its own option for the maintenance of a fair and orderly market and for the protection of clients against fraudulent or wrongful activities of its members. Such rules may establish position and exercise limits and reporting requirements to prevent an imbalance in the market from arising. They may also require the broad dissemination of price and volume information in order to keep the public reasonably informed of trading activities with respect to particular Commodity Futures Options. All these exchanges require compliance with their by-laws and rules as a condition for membership or continuing membership.

Each exchange also has its own clearing corporation to which all trades in their respective Commodity Futures Options are reported daily and matched to ensure that for each option purchased, there is a corresponding seller on the other side of the market. The clearing corporation facilitates settlement of obligations arising from each option transaction. Each clearing corporation, therefore, has its own rules designed for the orderly settlement of option trades.

The rules and regulations of the Exchange and their respective clearing houses vary from one another. They may also be changed from time to time, and such changes may even be given retroactive effect.

Before you decide to trade Commodity Futures Options, you should ask your dealer about these matters because they can have a profound effect on your options transactions.

CONTRACT SPECIFICATIONS

Each Commodity Futures Exchange fixes the terms and conditions of its Commodity Futures Option. These terms may include such items as trading units, permissible price fluctuations, exercise prices, expiration dates, last day of trading, daily price limits, etc. Again, bear in mind that these terms vary among the different Commodity Futures Options, and they may even be changed from time to time without notice. You should study these specifications carefully before you decide to trade Commodity Futures Options.

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

TAX CONSEQUENCES

The income tax consequences of trading in Options are dependent upon the nature of the business activities of the investor and the transaction in question. Investors are urged to consult their own professional advisers to determine the consequences applicable to their particular circumstances.

OFFERING MEMORANDUM (TAX-SHELTER SECURITIES)

Item 1:
Distribution spread

The information must be given for all the securities being distributed and be presented in tabular form on the first page of the offering memorandum.

DISTRIBUTION SPREAD

	Price to public	Dealer's remuneration*	Net proceeds from distribution
Per unit
Total

* Applicable only in the case of a registered dealer. In the case of another person the remuneration is not allowed (section 48 of the Act).

Any remuneration other than a discount or a commission in cash must be set forth in a note following the table.

Where the securities are to be settled otherwise than in cash, give all the details on the terms and conditions of the settlement.

If the offer is made pursuant to a contractual plan, briefly describe the workings of the plan and give the date it came into operation.

Item 2:
Plan of distribution

1. If all or part of the securities being offered are to be sold through underwriters, give the names of the underwriters. State briefly the nature of the underwriters' obligation to take up and pay for the securities.

Indicate the date by which the underwriters are to purchase the securities.

2. Outline briefly the plan of distribution of any securities being offered that are to be offered otherwise than through underwriters. Where there is a "best efforts" offering, indicate, where practicable, on the first page the minimum amount, if any, required to be raised, and also indicate the maximum amount that could be raised and the latest date that the offering is to remain open. In the case of a best efforts distribution with a minimum amount to be raised, the net proceeds from the distribution must be deposited with a trust company or a person acceptable to the

REGULATION IN FORCE FROM JUNE 9, 1988 TO JULY 20, 1988

“There is no market for these securities so that it may be difficult or even impossible for the holders to sell them. They may sell them only with a prospectus except for a sale to one of the subscribers or to persons with whom the subscribers are associated. In this latter case, the Commission must be advised of the transaction 5 days before it takes place.”

If a material part of the proceeds of the distribution is used for the acquisition of property, outside the normal course of business of the issuer, briefly describe those properties and provide the details of the price paid or attributed for the different classes of property.
